

October is Florida Greenways and Trails Month, so we're catching up with Charles Hines to discuss the latest news on the developing Florida Gulf Coast Trail. When complete, this regional pathway will cover seven coastal counties from Pinellas/Hillsborough to Collier, span 336 miles, and connect an estimated 21 million people to the outdoors. Find out how this trail got started, how you can help shape its identity, what sections you can explore today, and more.
