

Stacey Lamborn- FYCCN Partnership Coordinator for Northeast Region

I have always loved the outdoors and animals and knew from an early age that was the career field I wanted to go into. I got my Bachelor's Degree in Biology at the U. of South Carolina- Upstate, while playing soccer on scholarship as well. Sports have been the other half of my life- playing soccer and coaching still today. I got my start in the conservation field with the FL Park Service when I moved to FL after college, and then made the move to FWC. Working for a Fish and Wildlife agency was one of those childhood dreams, and I have thoroughly enjoyed these last 7 years in my role as an FYCCN Coordinator and helping our local FL communities connect kids with nature and inspiring them to care about conservation!
